Lumax Auto Technologies posted a good set of Q2 earnings. In an interview with CNBC-TV18, Anmol Jain, MD of the company discussed the details.

Q2 had been a good quarter for the company, he said.

Post goods and services tax (GST), the offtake has been quite smooth and in Q3 and Q4, the offtake will be even far better, he added.

According to him, aftermarket business essentially is on a higher EBITDA as compared to other businesses.

I do anticipate a single digit revenue growth in FY18. Next year we are looking at much more aggressive growth, we should be looking at a double-digit growth in the next fiscal, said Jain.
